

U.S., Britain Accused Of Interfering In Greek Voting

By ROBERT EUNSON

Paris, Aug. 30 (AP)—Russia accused the United States and Great Britain today of "interference" in next Sunday's Greek election and charged the little Balkan country was paving the way for the return of exiled King George II with "a reign of terror."

"We know British troops are there and American warships are on their way," Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told the peace conference during consideration of a Greek request to consider the Greek-Albania border dispute.

Molotov asserted it was "high time we put a stop" to what he called outside interference and "gave the Greek people a chance to select their own form of government." He contended that "the present form of government in Greece is very unpopular among the Greek people." Greece is the only Balkan country not strongly under the influence of Russia.

"Seems Incredible"

Despite the bitter opposition of Russia and the Slav bloc, the peace conference voted 12 to 7 after hours of blistering debate to discuss the Greek-Albanian border at its next meeting. The Greeks insist that a part of northern Epirus (Southern Albania) now occupied by Albania actually is Greek territory.

Secretary of State Byrnes during the debate declared:

"It seems incredible to me that we would deny one of the 21 governments that furnished troops to aid us in victory the opportunity to present its case—regardless as to our views on the question. The United States has no conviction on the territorial dispute but the United States would give the right to every member to be heard."

Molotov's Charges

Molotov responded that Russia was not opposing a discussion of the Greek-Albania border by the council of foreign ministers of the United States, Russia, Great Britain and France. He said the "French delegate had been right" in insisting that the matter did not come under the five draft treaties prepared for peace conference consideration. On the vote, France sided with the Slav nations, Belgium and Norway abstained.

Molotov, speaking from the dais without notes, criticized Greece for what he described as an attempt "to involve the foreign ministers council in her claims" against Albania.

"This is a very dangerous question because it is calculated to create trouble in the Balkans," said Molotov.

Find Combination To Old Safe

Borough authorities again have access to the large safe on the second floor of the engine house, which contains many of the borough's records. The combination has been found.

At a recent borough council meeting when application had been received for connecting new homes on Carlisle street, just beyond the borough limits, to the city sewer system, no one knew for certain what the customary fee should be for allowing the connections to be made.

The records were in the safe. No one could open it. No one present knew the combination. It had not been opened in weeks. Former Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer found the combination Thursday, written in an old bank book. Now the safe can be opened.

JURY AWARDS $1,000 VERDICT IN COURT SUIT

R. M. Walton, Mt. Joy township was awarded $1,000 damages by an Adams county jury Thursday afternoon after an hour's deliberation on an action in assumpsit case brought by Walton against E. Charles Matthias, Littlestown.

The jury returned its verdict at 5:32 o'clock. The trial was the last of the August term of court and marked the first time within the memory of court house officials that a civil suit was tried during the August term.

Walton was seeking $3,317 which he claimed was due him because of certain rights of way over his property and the removal of certain personal property, which, he claimed, reduced the value of the farm by that much from the $11,000 he paid for it.

Conflicting Testimony

John E. Moudy, Littlestown real estate broker, who handled the sale of the property in 1944 from Matthias to Walton, appeared on the stand Thursday afternoon. He told the jury that he had attempted to show Walton over the place before he bought it but that Walton had walked only about 10 feet from the porch and then said that was as far as he wished to go.

Moudy also said that there are markers on each side of the farm showing the path of a pipe line and that there is a pumping station on one edge of the farm. He said that Walton had asked about the pumping station. Walton in his claim against Matthias had said he had not been told the pipe line ran across his property and did not know it was there. He sought over $2,000 damage along the pipe line.

William B. Tressler, tenant farmer on the Matthias farm, who moved from the place when Walton purchased it, said that the tools, wire, and equipment that Walton claimed had been removed after he had purchased it actually were not in the sale because, according to Tressler, it was his property. The tenant farmer said he had taken with him all of the things he owned when he left the farm.

The court is scheduled to have a busy day Saturday, with sentences to be handed down in criminal cases.

Truck Upsets In Maryland; Lands In Penna.

George Alexander, Kennett Square, Pa., truck driver, almost caused interstate complications as a result of an accident at 8:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

Alexander, driving a truck and trailer on the Hanover-Hampstead road about nine and one-half miles from Hanover, skidded off the road at a curve during a rainstorm. His skid started in Maryland and his truck went upon a bank in Maryland. When it came down, on its side, all but the rear wheels were in Pennsylvania.

Maryland State Trooper E. C. Stallings, of the Randallstown barracks and Borough Officer Day of Westminster came to the scene. Obviously, they decided, it was a Pennsylvania accident. They called the local state police. State Policeman David K. James, of the local substation went to the scene. Obviously, he said, the accident occurred in Maryland. Did not the truck skid off the road in Maryland? Did it not drive up the bank in Maryland? Were not the rear wheels in Maryland? Convinced however, that the weight of the evidence, some several tons of truck, were against him, the local officer gave in during the good natured argument.

Damage to the truck and trailer amount to about $1,000, James said today. No one was injured. The officer spent most of the night at the scene directing traffic about the truck, which had nearly blocked the entire highway when it turned over.

Blue-Gray Band To Compete For Prizes In Hanover Parade

Threatening skies and the promise of a deluge which caused an abrupt halt to last week's concert in center square, again forced the postponement of the scheduled concert by the Blue and Gray Band of Gettysburg. A rehearsal and business session was held in the fire engine house on East Middle street.

It was decided at the business meeting that the band will enter the Welcome Home parade to be held in Hanover on Monday, and compete for the open band prize.

Members were being notified today by those who attended last night's meeting to be at the engine house at 1 p. m. on Monday afternoon for transportation. They were also urged to bring in their uniform if unable to appear with the band, as other musicians could be secured for the engagement.

NEW DORMS AT COLLEGE WILL BE READY SOON

Gettysburg college's new dormitories on West Lincoln avenue north of the football field are rapidly taking shape, and construction is running right on schedule, representatives of the contracting firm and government officials said today.

Barring unforeseen eventualities, they will be ready for occupancy by opening of college, spokesmen said. Fifty men, 27 of them carpenters, are working daily on the erection of former army cantonment buildings shipped here by truck from Logan Field, Md., and Geneva, Pa. Foundations for most of the buildings have been completed. The framework and roof of one unit at the west side of the quadrangle have been completed and the building is ready for siding.

Shortage of Lumber

Numerous obstacles have been met and overcome, an official of the Federal Public Housing Administration said. Chief difficulty experienced at the present time is in obtaining nails and terra cotta pipe. Considerable new lumber has had to be purchased. "We are buying locally as much as possible," a spokesman said, "but we must buy at reasonable prices." Some difficulty has been experienced in obtaining lumber. There is no serious shortage at the present time sufficient to hold up construction, however, it was said.

All workmen on the job are members of the carpenters' and laborers' union, A. F. of L. Men were obtained through the United States Employment Services, and must join the union before going to work. Cost of joining the union is $21, except in the case of war veterans, it was said. These latter, if they have not been out of the service more than six months, may join the union for $7.50. This charge takes care of their insurance benefit policies.

Need Carpenters

While progress on the work was reported as satisfactory, additional carpenters could still be used, according to William Henderson, Chambersburg, general foreman for Tobias, Heller and Son, Inc., New York city, the contracting firm which is erecting the units.

Mr. Henderson said there were no labor troubles on the job. Several former G.I.'s are among those employed. When the job started three (Please Turn to Page 5)

TRIMMER BARN BURNED TODAY

A barn at the farm of Cyrus Trimmer, York Springs R. 2, Huntingtown township, near Heidlersburg, was destroyed by fire this morning at 10:45 o'clock. Damage was approximated tentatively at about $7,000.

Members of the York Springs fire company, which was called, saved a chicken house, about 50 feet east of the large frame barn.

The fire was thought to have been accidentally set, possibly by several children who were playing about the barn, fire officials said.

The wife of the owner discovered the fire, when the children came into the kitchen for water. Looking out she saw the side of the barn in flames. Running to the barn she removed two horses and a number of chickens that were in the barn.

Lost in the conflagration today, a tractor and feed that were in the barn. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

HEALTH SURVEY OPENS TUESDAY IN GETTYSBURG

The study of the rural use of medical, hospital, and dental facilities in the vicinity of Gettysburg is about completed and the visitors will begin, probably Tuesday, a similar survey of the borough itself, Dr. William Mather, head of the survey, announced today.

The study is sponsored by the state medical, hospital and dental societies as well as the state tuberculosis association and the departments of health, welfare and public assistance. The actual survey is being conducted by Dr. Mather, of Pennsylvania State college and visitors selected by the college. Five visitors took part in the open country survey while two will visit the homes in Gettysburg.

Designed to find out more about the use of health facilities by people of good farming communities, the survey is one of two conducted this summer a similar survey was conducted in the Shippensburg area where there is no hospital. The results of the two surveys will be compared to determine the effect of a nearby hospital on the use of medical facilities as well as to provide a definite check of the use of medical and dental facilities between two sections very similar in people, economy and activities.

Visit Every 5th Home

Previous studies in other states were directed mainly at low-income segments of the population. This is the first to be made among the more average income groups.

The visitors, trained at the Pennsylvania State college of Agriculture, will call upon every fifth household in Gettysburg, Doctor Mather said. They will ask questions about the illnesses, accidents and dental needs of the family over the previous year and the steps taken, such as use of doctors, nurses, dentists, drugstore aids and home prepared remedies. All replies given the visitors are kept confidential, Doctor Mather said.

Due to considerable local interest in the research the young women who have been making the visits report a "most cordial reception" given them by farm families in the part of the survey so far conducted.

FOUR INJURED IN TWO-CAR CRASH NEAR ORRTANNA

Four persons received minor injuries this morning at 6:55 o'clock when the car in which they were riding collided with another vehicle three miles north of Fairfield on the Orrtanna road.

State Policeman Frank Yercavage, who investigated the accident, said those injured were: Andrew Strausbaugh, 17, Gettysburg R. 2, who suffered minor lacerations of the face, nose and chest and bruises of the knee; Harry Kuhn, 29, Fairfield, who suffered brushburns and bruises of the face, forehead, left hand and right knee; George Seifer, 15, Fairfield, bruises of the right arm and right hip; Paul Sease, 15, Fairfield, lacerations of the face. They were treated at the scene of the accident by Dr. Ira Henderson, of Fairfield.

To Charge Driver

According to officer Yercavage the accident occurred when cars driven by Strausbaugh and Clarence Mickle, 67, Orrtanna, crashed head on. Mickle, the state policeman said, was driving south and was looking at a house trailer standing in a field to the left of the road. The officer said that Mickle's car drifted over to the left side of the road while the man was looking to the left. Strausbaugh, according to police, was going north. When Strausbaugh saw Mickle's car going to the left he told police he assumed that Mickle was planning to turn into a side road leading off to the left, and turned his car toward his left side of the road in order to pass. Mickle in the meantime looked back on the road, he told police, and seeing the Strausbaugh car approaching attempted to get back on his own side of the road. The two cars met head on.

Officer Yercavage said this morning he plans to charge Mickle before Justice of the Peace H. L. Harbaugh, Fairfield, with failure to yield one half the highway.

The Adams county Red Cross office will be closed Monday and both local service clubs will omit their weekly dinner meetings. The time for the regular meeting of the borough council has been postponed from Monday to Tuesday evening.

W. S. WHITELEY WILL TEACH AT READING HIGH

William S. Whiteley, teacher at the Arentsville Vocational high school for the last 10 years and acting principal there for the last four years has resigned to accept a teaching position in the Reading senior high school, the Arentsville school board announced today.

The resignation was effective Thursday. Named to succeed Whiteley as acting principal was Donald Ernst, teacher of mathematics and English and baseball coach at the school for the last three years.

Ernst, a native of York Springs, and a former teacher at Dillsburg, will continue as mathematics teacher in addition to acting as principal. The principal of the school, Herbert Bryan, now a lieutenant commander in the navy, has been on military leave of absence for four years.

Headed Work Camps

Whiteley, a graduate of Susquehanna university and who took post graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania, taught for one year at Quakertown before coming to Arentsville, where he opened the commercial department of the school a decade ago. For his first five years at the school he also coached the soccer teams. Soccer was dropped as a sport at the school during the early part of the war due to the travel difficulties. He also was coach of the girls' basketball for three years.

For the last three years he has been supervisor for summer work camps for high school age youngsters established here by the local Emergency Farm labor office. In 1944 he had three camps, one at Arentsville, another at Biglerville and a third at Cross Keys under his supervision. In 1945 camps were established only at Biglerville and Arentsville and this year only the Biglerville camp was opened.

At one time he was chairman of camping and activities for the Black Walnut (Adams County) Boy Scout district and for the last year he has been president of the Adams County Branch of the PSEA. Dale Roth, vice president of the PSEA, is expected to take over the presidency until the elections at the annual teachers' institute, it was learned today.

Left Arentsville Today

Whiteley, a member of the Upper Adams County Lions club, the Gettysburg Elks and Masons and treasurer of the Pennsylvania Business Teachers' association for the last two years, was a member of the Elks softball team in the Gettysburg community league.

At Reading high school he will teach classes in typing, bookkeeping and shorthand. He left this morning for his home in Selingsgrove where he will remain until Tuesday when he reports for duty at Reading.

While at Arentsville he has served for a number of years as a teacher in the Trinity Lutheran church Sunday school there.

600 ATTEND ANNIVERSARY OF ORPHANAGE

Hoffman orphanage, resuming, after a lapse of six years, its annual public anniversary celebration, welcomed 600 persons Thursday for an afternoon and evening program.

The last previous celebration was held in 1940. A program was planned for 1941 but the committee cancelled its plans due to the polio epidemic at that time and since then no anniversary programs were held because of the war. This year marks the 36th anniversary of the founding of the establishment.

In addition to some 400 members of the Reformed churches in this area five bus loads attended from the Baltimore Reformed Churches and a number of other Marylanders came by car.

The Rev. Dr. Oliver K. Maurer, Red Lion, secretary of the board of directors of the orphanage, was the principal speaker. Dr. Marsy Roth, Hanover, gave the invocation. John L. Gerber, York, president of the board, spoke briefly and the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor of Trinity Reformed church here, was in charge of the "Moments in Memoriam."

Honor Deceased

The memorial service honored three persons who had died since the last meeting including the Rev. Alexander Frantz, a former superintendent at the orphanage, and two orphans who died during the war while members of the armed forces. The Rev. Mr. Fox also welcomed home the approximately 30 men, formerly at the orphanage, who have returned from service in the armed forces and who attended Thursday's celebration.

During the afternoon the visitors inspected the orphanage and then were served meals in the orphanage dining room by members of the Emanuel Reformed church, Hanover, and in Emanuel cottage by the ladies of Redeemer's Reformed church of Littlestown. Lunches were served at a stand by women of St. Mary's church, Silver Run, and ice cream by ladies of Trinity Reformed church of Gettysburg. One stand did a land office business when, for a brief time, nylons were on sale, three pairs to a customer.

Musical Program

Miss Hazel Hess, Taneytown, presented several organ numbers and accompanied the school's girls' chorus which sang two selections. Prizes were awarded to a number of children of the orphanage for being the "best" in moral influence, most helpful influence, most faithful to duties, best caretaker of clothes, most progress in music and best citizen. The latter award is presented by the Women's Guild of Trinity Reformed church here. Each of the winners received five dollars.

Among the winners as announced by the Rev. Arthur Leeming, superintendent at the orphanage for the past five years, were: Joan Sterner, Mary Weigle, Kenneth Wolfgang, Ray Ginglesparger, Glenn Ginglesparger, Lewis Wolfgang, Mae Wolfgang, Betty Bixler, Letha Luckenbaugh, Lena Luckenbaugh, Thomas Weinreich, Roland Sterner, Maurice Luckenbaugh, Albert Sterner, June Stich, Peggy Burkholder, Ann Brown, Ralph Sterner, Robert Hottle, and Josephine Burkholder.

Police Will Arrest Curious Motorists Hampering Firemen

State police today warned that in the future drivers going to fires will be arrested, and quickly, if they behave in the manner they did Thursday evening during a barn fire near Biglerville.

The state officers said that motorists en route to the fire made it almost impossible for fire trucks to pass and that on one occasion a Gettysburg fire truck escaped a serious smashup only by a fraction of an inch when a motorist, who had parked along the highway near the fire apparently decided to drive up closer and backed into the path of the fire apparatus.

Cars parked on the road caused nearly all traffic to stop and made difficult the movement of fire apparatus to and from the sources of water. The cars were parked three deep at spots on the Biglerville road, south of the fire, state policemen said.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN; BELIEVE STORM IS CAUSE

Fire, believed by firemen to have been started by lightning, destroyed a frame bank barn at the farm of Aaron Courter, near Biglerville, Thursday night.

Damage was estimated at from $8,000 to $10,000 by officials of the Biglerville fire company which was called to the scene at about 9:30 o'clock, after the flames were discovered by Mrs. Courter.

No one had been in the upper part of the barn since Tuesday when the last of the season's crop of wheat was removed from the building. The upper portions of the barn were filled with straw and grains were stored throughout the building. Several bags of chicken mash were all that were saved from the conflagration.

Residence Saved

The owner told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times Thursday night that he had gone out to a pump at the rear of his house a few minutes before the fire was discovered. At that time, he said, he noticed nothing amiss at the barn. A few minutes later he went to bed and his wife, Mrs. Ruth Courter, in passing a window while getting ready for bed saw flames were shooting from the peak of the barn.

While Mrs. Courter phoned the Biglerville fire company, Mrs. Courter ran to the barn and rescued as much chicken feed as he was able to carry out before the flames spread to the lower portion of the structure. There were no animals or equipment in the barn.

Neighbors, who also saw the flames, came to the house and poured water from a garden hose on the side of the Courter home to prevent its catching from the flames which were described as coming within 20 feet of the house. Members of the Biglerville fire company, shedding their raincoats because of the intense heat, played water from Indian fire pumps on the side of the house while 1,200 feet of hose was quickly laid from the Conewago creek.

FIRE DESTROYS

already arrived. "If we had been five minutes later," he said, "the house too would have burned and we were almost held up that long by motorists who jammed the highway and the road leading back here. As a matter of fact, if we had been held up two minutes longer on the Gettysburg-Biglerville road the fire trucks would never have been able to get through on the side road leading to the farm without moving a number of vehicles which were parked along the roadside, and on the road."

Gettysburg's fire company was called, apparently by neighbors and arrived about 10 o'clock to find they could not get through the jam of cars to the conflagration.

With cars parked along the highway and on the highway for nearly two miles, the fire company had difficulty in getting as far as the Conecago creek. There the hoses of the Biglerville fire company blocked the highway. After investigation it was found that the local fire company was not needed so the Gettysburg firemen returned here.

Traffic was tied up over a three-mile stretch along the Biglerville road with cars parked nearly to Biglerville on one side of the road-block caused by the fire company hose and parked for two-miles south of the fire. While a few of the cars were those of persons who were traveling on the highway and who simply turned around and went to their destination by other routes, most were cars of the thousands who went to see the fire. Due to low cloud conditions the fire could be seen for miles.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Growers To Study Tomato Culture

Improved methods of tomato culture will be discussed and demonstrated at two field meetings sponsored by the county agricultural extension service, to be held Wednesday, September 4, M. T. Hartman, county agent, announced today.

The first gathering will be held at 1:30 p. m. at the M. E. Knouse Meadow Brook farm. The field, according to Mr. Hartman, adjoins an earth road that leads from Guernsey to Flora Dale. Tomatoes are planted six feet by two and a half feet, and growers attending the meeting will see and discuss the merits of this method of planting.

From Meadow Brook the growers will go to the Group Brothers and Day farm, formerly the Park Gardner farm at 3 p. m. to observe the nine acres of tomatoes in three fields that have been sprayed with five applications of Bordeaux mixture.

Mr. Hartman urges tomato growers to be present at these meetings to help determine improved methods of growing.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Aug. 30 (AP)—Only two of the six clubs in the Georgia-Alabama baseball league have the same managers who started the season and one club has changed twice. Other minor league teams have made as many as four managerial shifts. . . . It leads you to wonder just what (besides good players) makes a good manager. . . . One smart baseball man observes that pilots, especially in the minors, are "just drawn out of a hat." . . . Another points out that Branch Rickey selected candidates last spring and had them report at Sanford, Fla., for pre-season training with the result that Brooklyn farms have made an exceptionally good showing this season. . . . Wonder why some "chain" operator doesn't organize a real school for managers. They even have schools for umpires, though a lot of them act as if they had flunked out.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Cornell's grid coaching staff is high on fullback Joe Martin, who is even bigger and stronger than when he played for Carl Snavely in 1941.

Bernard Dousen, who makes his garden boxing debut tonight, is a good bowler and a first-rate pool player but he never learned to punch a light bag, which most fighters consider an essential part of their training. . . . Billy Evans, southern association president, has almost reached the point where he's losing money in income taxes under the bonus arrangement which gives him 1 cent for each paid admission over a figure which the league has long since passed. . . . Three likely Michigan football regulars scored touchdowns the first time they ever took the ball in college competition. They're Don Robinson (1942), Dick Rifenburg (1944) and Ed McNeill (1945).

DOTS ALL BROTHERS

If he survives next month's championship fights, Al Weill plans to take a long vacation tour through the southwest and to California, taking Danny Kaplow and Lew Hanbury along for company and maybe financial support. . . . The All America Football League is chuckling again because the National League Philadelphia Eagles just signed Gorham Getchell and Johnny Green, cut loose by A. A. clubs.

National Shoots To Open Saturday

Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 30 (AP)—More than 1,200 of the nation's top-flight pistol and small-bore rifle marksmen will invade this huge Ohio national guard camp tomorrow for the 62nd annual national rifle and pistol championships scheduled to run through September 8.

Actual shooting starts next Tuesday, but until then the deadeye Dicks and Doras will attend the War Department's small arms firing school which traditionally opens the annual bullet barrage which hasn't been held since 1941 because of the war.

During the six-day test the huge entry of men and women will fire more than a million rounds of ammunition in quest of the top U. S. marksmanship.

Instead of living in national guard tents, as has been the custom since the National matches moved to Camp Perry in 1907, this year's competitors will be housed in huts constructed by the army for Italian prisoners of war who were held here.

EXPORTING SUGAR

Philadelphia, Aug. 30 (AP)—Port records showed today that 13,500,000 pounds of sugar have been exported from here to foreign countries within the past week. Loading of a 4,000,000 pound shipment to Finland is scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Lafayette Squad Starts Training

Easton, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Lafayette college's football squad begins training September 3 at Camp Wyomissing in the Poconos with E. E. (Hooks) Mylin returning as coach after an absence of three years.

A squad of 50 is expected to report to Mylin and Assistant Coaches Ralph Furiel, former Bucknell captain; James Dunn and Charley Gelbert, former St. Louis Cardinals shortstop; James P. Mathews, for 10 years trainer at the U. S. Military academy, is the new Lafayette trainer.

The Lafayette schedule opens against Muhlenberg September 28, and calls for games with Penn, Gettysburg, Washington and Jefferson, Bucknell, Colgate, Rutgers, Columbia and Lehigh on successive Saturdays.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The Elmira Pioneers remained within striking distance of an Eastern league playoff berth today by moving into position three and a half games behind fourth-place Hartford.

The Pioneers trounced Utica, 7-2, last night—before 1,792 fans who braved chilly weather to help Elmira celebrate Ralph Winegarmer night.

The league's only other activity, a doubleheader, involved the seventh and eighth-place teams and resulted in a standoff with Binghamton blanking Williamsport, 3-0, in the opener but dropping the nightcap, 2-1.

Hogan Favorite In Golden State Open

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP)—The $15,000 golden state open, biggest summer golf tournament ever staged in Southern California got away, winging today with 144 shotsmiths, headed by blaz' Ben Hogan, teeing off at California country club's cozy layout.

Hogan, winner of last week's PGA tourney at Portland, was a hot favorite to grab his 11th major title of the year and add to his pro-leading winnings of $33,377 for 1946.

But every major winner except Byron (bad luck) Nelson and Sammy Snead, English open champion, was on the premises, ready to shatter par 71 for the short but hilly 6,328-yard course.

First money in the four-day, 72-hole tourney is $2,500.

Inter State League

(By The Associated Press)

Sunbury forged ahead today in the race for an Interstate league playoff position.

Butch Etchison stole home in the eighth inning last night to give the Yankees a 2-1 win over York and Johnny Szajna his 17th pitching victory of the season. Earlier Etchison had homered to tie the count after York grabbed the lead in the first frame.

The victory left Sunbury in fourth place, behind Wilmington, Hagerstown and Harrisburg, with Allentown a half game back of York and one and one-half games off the playoff pace.

In the only other game of the rain-curtailed schedule, Trenton thumped Hagerstown 9-3.

CARDS WIN AS DODGERS LOSE; PHILS MOVE UP

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Racing down the stretch, the St. Louis Cardinals are trying to explode the theory that the team in first place on July Fourth usually wins the pennant.

On that day the Cards were trailing the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers by seven and a half games and appeared hopelessly out of the race. Today they are 2½ games in front of the flock.

The Cards gained a full game yesterday when they shut out the New York Giants 4-0 as the Chicago Cubs were beating the Dodgers 3-2.

The victory moved Chicago only six games behind the Dodgers.

Trip Red Sox

Detroit, which hadn't won a game at Fenway park until Wednesday, made it two straight over the Boston Red Sox, 9-8, in 14 innings. Dizzy Trout, in relief, won his 11th game while Dave (Boo) Ferriss, trying for his 12th straight, was driven from the box in the sixth.

The Yankees clinched the season series with Cleveland on a 9-1 victory in New York behind the nine-hit pitching of Randy Gumpert. The Boston Braves' hopes to overtake the third place Cubs remained alive when they defeated the Reds in Cincinnati 4-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Ed Wright.

The season's record low of 1,124 saw the Philadelphia Phillies shove the Pirates deeper into the National League cellar with a 5-2 victory in Pittsburgh.

The scheduled Chicago White Sox-Washington games was postponed by rain while the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Browns were idle.

PEACE OR WORLD ARMAMENT RACE ALTERNATIVES

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

"Those responsible for the defense of the nation must make their plans on the basis that there is and will be no adequate control (of the atomic bomb) on the international level."

That is the current policy of the United States War Department as defined by Secretary Patterson.

"The only complete defense against the bomb is a system that will avoid war," say the scientific advisors of Bernard Baruch, in a supplement to the American control plan submitted for the guidance of the United Nations Atomic Energy commission. "The remaining alternative is development of superior bombs and superior ways of delivering them to the target as counter-offensive weapons," the report also says, with the comment:

"This might deter a nation from starting an aggressive war by making it apparent that victory is impossible."

Neither of these statements were made as threats. Patterson was outlining his conception of his own job while awaiting the outcome of negotiations which are the business of others, for whom he prayed Godspeed. The statement of the Baruch group was contained in a report primarily directed at informing United Nations delegates of the beneficial results of atomic fission for mankind—provided the nations can reach political agreement.

World's Choice

But there in cold words is stated the alternatives—general peace or an all-consuming atomic armaments race, which as a matter of fact is already in its early stages.

We have the word of careful observers that Soviet fear of the atomic bomb is an important influence on foreign policy, and that strenuous scientific and industrial efforts are being made to "catch up." In Britain and in Canada, which co-operated in development of the original bomb, but which do not have the complete "know how" even yet, important and expensive experiments are under way. The program in the United States continues at untold expense. No one knows what other peoples may be burdened with this war-preparatory load while

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
THE MOOD OF THE SKY

For hours this summer I have sat and rested under the canopy of the sky, with my eyes following every change of light and color—a veritable carpet of intricate and massed designs, some threading across the background of blue, as though from hidden skeins, spreading their silken lines as though spun for the purpose of beauty alone.

Then there are great formations that resemble great puff-balls of fleshy cotton, then through it all will come streams of golden light, as though suggesting the changing of partners for the next dance in the sky—and all so smoothly done and with utter silence.

Nothing is more fascinating than this look into a cloudy sky on a summer day. One late afternoon I looked upon a magnificent display of mackerel clouds, fleecy and massed across half the sky. What made them that way, I wondered. Like a great poem, written in measured manner.

You can look all day into a cloudy sky and never see the same design.
Nature never repeats up there. One moment there will be great rounded domes, then all melting into a mountainous range of peaks that show their splendor as though invested with power, and at times you imagine a floating city within your vision.

The late afternoon sky, to me, however, is the most poetic. I watch for it each day, for then the sunset nears. These are always beautiful, as viewed across a body of water, on a still, cool day. Great strokes of color—blues, greys, purple, orange, and often fiery reds, form the picture—and across the horizon, lifted a little, these strokes of color melt and are consumed in one great riot of beauty, many resembling long strokes that a master artist might have done, could he have just been divine!

The mood of the sky is something like our own—ever changing—but the mood of the cloudy sky is always a mood of silence. That is why its moods are so peaceful, and such good medicine for any one of us, at times when all else is veiled in mystery, or confusion. We need the lessons of nature to lift us up spiritually.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Something To Live For."

Just Folks

FATE AND DESTINY Men call it "destiny" when they are raised to places great,
But when some plan has gone astray
They mutter: "It is fate!"

None can foresee the lucky chance
By which his fortunes rise,
Nor tell if every circumstance
Be foolish one or wise.

Each day brings all adventures new
By while men lose or gain,
But still the end of what they do
Long hidden may remain.

Two words for pre-determined ends,
For gains or losses great,
Tis "destiny" that man befriends,
His enemy is "fate."

MEN'S SUITS BE SPACE FOR YEAR OR MORE

By ARTHUR EDSON

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP)—Shoothe moths out of that suit, gents.
It may have to last another two years.

A Civilian Production Administration man told a reporter today that these are the bare facts on men's clothes:

Fifteen million men still will be hunting suits on Dec. 31, 1946.

Not until 1948 will suits be plentiful enough for men to be choosy.

The shirt scarcity will last for a year.

There'll be a shorts shortage for six to 12 months.

Yes, sighed the CPA man, a trifle enviously, the girls are better off.
That's because, so manufacturers say, there is more profit in turning out women's garments.

Women's Clothes Plentiful

According to the CPA man, women now get almost all the slips and underpinnings they need. Most of the city women are well fixed for hose, although some rural dwellers still have rayon and nylon troubles.

He said there are plenty of pretty women's suits but that they cost a pretty penny, too. Sports clothes have been so plentiful some shops are sending shipments back to the manufacturers.

If the girls have any real gripe, it's because there will be no real style changes until sometime after March 31, 1947. That's when CPA goes out of business.

The CPA has kept styles pretty well tied down with order No. L-85.
This limits the length of the skirt, the size of the hem (not more than two inches), the length of the sleeves and the fullness of the sleeves and dress.

Must Hold The Skirt Line

Several designers and manufacturers would like to come out with new styles, of course, and some proposals have called for dropping the skirt down to the calves.

"But if we let the line down as much as two inches," said the CPA man, "it would take 50,000,000 more yards of goods."

Furthermore, he said, if skirtlines drop much all wardrobes would be out-of-date instantly. Then instead of wearing out what they have, the gals would dash out to buy more suits and dresses.

"And there would go badly needed shirts, shorts and suits for men."

"We've got to hold the skirt line."

Long Beach, Calif., (AP)—Mrs.
Edward W. Chilton is beginning to believe it runs in the family.
She was born Aug. 27, 1919. Her first child, Patricia, was born Aug.
27, 1939.

Her second, Susan, was born,
Aug. 27, 1946.

Mayor Lawrence To Mediate Power Case

Pittsburgh, Aug. 30 (AP)—Mayor David L. Lawrence today made ready to take over personal mediation in the contract dispute between the Duquesne Light company and an independent union of its employees, after warning both parties he planned to take that step if they were unable to make any progress toward averting a threatened power strike.

The company and union have been deadlocked for weeks on the union's demand for 20 per cent wage boosts, a master contract for all affiliated companies, excess profits sharing plan, vacation program and many other issues.

The union has filed a strike notice which expires tomorrow at midnight. Its 3,500 members will hold a strike vote Tuesday. A power strike by the same union last February lasted only 19 hours and plunged most of Allegheny county and part of Beaver county into partial darkness, disrupting industrial and commercial life throughout the big Pittsburgh metropolitan area.

Yesterday's negotiations brought reports from both sides that no progress had been made on any major issue.

Guard Enlistments Are Restricted

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—Enlistments in the new Pennsylvania National Guard were restricted today to men who are outside of the current draft age—19 to 29—unless they have been discharged from the federal armed forces.

The department of military affairs advised all commanders yesterday that in line with a new war department directive men of draft age could not be enlisted into the guard units until the units have entered the fourth 90-day stage of the two year reorganization program.

All youths of 18, who are enlisted beginning with the fourth stage must sign a stipulation that they will accept discharge from the National Guard if they are drafted after reaching their 19th birthday.

The War Department directive also banned the enlistment of anyone who has been separated from the federal forces for disability, explaining that "a soldier not qualified for services in the Regular Army is not qualified for enlistment in the National Guard."

MEETING TUESDAY

10-POINT PLAN MAPPED BY RICE

DuBois, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Hard-surfacing of "every remaining mile of dirt road in Pennsylvania" was listed here by Col. John S. Rice last night as one of the 10 points of a reform platform he said he would carry out if elected governor at the November election.

Rice, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, told a radio audience his program would cover these objectives:

1. Rural roads; 2. repair and replacement and adequate staffing of mental institutions which he termed "a shame and disgrace"; 3. a 25,000-unit veterans' housing program without expense to taxpayers, through a program of sales and rentals; 4. a state veterans' bonus;
5. development of the state Agricultural Department into a more efficient marketing agency; 6. the greatest possible assistance to distressed school districts to prevent loss of teachers "because our districts can't pay them enough"; 7.

promotion of the state's vacation center possibilities; 8. an increased role of women in government; 9. a "complete reorganization and housecleaning" of state departments which Rice said were being operated "in a way that no good businessman would tolerate"; and 10. an expanded conservation program.

-THAT WAS NO LADY, THAT WAS MY WIFE!

Lillie straightened her hat and gently mopped her face with her handkerchief. "We don't miss much in East Bradford, and the first time I hear that Violet's been made unhappy in this house or by any of the Bradford family or friends, I might have to do something about it."

Not until she had turned and left the room did either woman speak and then she heard the young- er say, "Well! I... Well!" Lillie found her way out alone and turned toward East Bradford. It was a long walk but she wanted to walk. The sticky, moist heat of the August day pressed down on her and as she neared East Brad- ford, her body began to feel heavy and she was plodding rather than walking. Her slim body seemed too cumbersome and she thought of the big Slavic women who plodded along cow-like through East Brad- ford, their bodies huge and mis- shapen from their child-bearing, and she thought, "That is how I feel. The way they look. Heavy from life."

When she reached the Washing- ton House, she did something she rarely did because Pud didn't like it. She went in through the bar because she had to reach Pud quickly. Being mid-afternoon the bar was quiet. In a little while the shift would change in the mill and then it would be filled with laughter and loud talk and the smell of sweaty bodies, but now there was only the drone of the big blade fans that hung from the ceiling and the sour-sweet odor of beer, and Pud sitting in the corner reading the afternoon paper. He looked up and said, "Why, Lillie, honey."

She dropped down at his feet. "Oh, Pud," she cried, "Violet's go- ing to have a baby," and at his start of surprise added, "She's mar- ried. To Laurence Bradford."

Jerkerly she spilled out the whole story. When she had finished, Pud sat stroking her hair for a moment. "You know, Lillie," he said slowly, "it's a little like blackmail. What you said to them, I mean."

"I don't care," Lillie answered defiantly. "There isn't anything I wouldn't do for Violet." Her voice broke. "If I'd only kept her with me the way you said. If that Miss Miller had let me know what was going on..."

"But, Lillie," Pud protested. "You can't run Violet's life. You know you dam a stream, if it isn't done in the right place and the right way, it'll spill over its banks and go wild. If you had tried to change Violet's life, you don't know what might have happened."

"Well," Lillie answered, "if I could only have this baby instead of her..." She began to cry and Pud stroked her hair and said "Ah, Lil- lie, honey don't." She gulped and swallowed and managed a feeble

Flood Control Hearings Held

Cleatfield, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Recent floods in the upper reaches of the west branch of the Susquehanna river caused damage in excess of $4,000,000 and resulted in at least one death, army engineers were told at a public flood control hearing here yesterday.

Some 500 representatives of flood-damaged communities in Clearfield, Elk, Cambria and Indiana counties attended the hearing, held at a series of three for the west Susquehanna watershed.

Clearfield officials estimated flood damage to that community at $2,500,000.

Officials of Spangler, Barnesboro, Patton and Hastings, all in Cambria county, and Cherry Tree, Indiana county, placed their combined loss from four flash floods this year—three of them in June—at $1,500,000.

Alexandria, Egypt, became a naval base more than 2,000 years ago, when Alexander the Great founded it to aid in his campaign against Persia.

At the supper table, she suddenly laid down the fork she had half- way to her mouth and began to laugh. "Pud, I was in the Brad- ford house today and I forgot to look around."

"Well what of it," Pud answered. "You'll probably see the inside of it lots now that Violet's there."

But Lillie shook her head. "No. It's no place for me."

When Violet came to see her the next week, Lillie was glad she didn't know what the inside of the Bradford mansion looked like. She didn't want Violet to know of her visit, and she could question her enthusiastically about her new surroundings because she knew nothing about them. Violet was spilling over with new hap- piness, and Lillie could almost re- lax and soak some of it into her own being.

"It's just been as you said, Lil- lie," Violet's eyes were shining. "They have all been so nice. Laurie's mother took me to the city and helped me get some clothes, and Ardash is giving a luncheon next week." Her face dimmed a little. "Mr. Bradford, though, seems aw- fully stern, Lillie. I'm a little afraid of him."

Lillie patted her hand. "Don't be, baby. He's your friend, I know." Violet laughed lightly. "I don't know how you know so much, Lil- lie, but you are always right. They are so happy about the baby."

Paris Peace Conference Seen Headed For Failure; Talk Of World War III

DEPRESSION IS DEEPEST SINCE GUNS SILENCED

Editor's Note: The following story is not a prediction of war, but merely a picture and sampling of opinion and atmosphere surrounding the Paris peace conference. It is written by Reiman Morin, veteran correspondent and chief of the AP's Paris bureau, who in recent months has traveled widely in western Europe.

By REIMAN MORIN
Paris, Aug. 30 (AP)—The peace conference appears now to be headed for failure and people in Paris, both foreigners and French, both those who know and those who feel, are more profoundly depressed today than at any time since the last gun fired in Europe.

They feel World War III already is in sight.
They feel it may not come this year or next year but there is little doubt any longer among people in Paris that it will come. That view is common to people in all quarters.

Worse This Week
A few days ago I spoke with the foreign minister of one country. He has now gone home. He described himself as "a discouraged optimist, worn out and hopeless." Not long afterward I overheard a conversation between a French policeman and a waiter in a cafe a short distance from Luxembourg palace. "Keep the moths out of your uniform, old boy. You are going to need it."

The records of a French fact-finding organization, which attempts to test public opinion, show that the question being openly discussed now is: "If war breaks out between Russia and the United States, etc.?"

The situation has deteriorated greatly since the peace conference opened and more particularly within the last week.

Irreconcilable Policies
There no longer is any doubt here about the totally irreconcilable policies of Russia and the bloc of Slavic nations which stand with her on the one hand and those of the west on the other.

The clashes between Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes along with the completely outspoken statements of the Australians plus the startling indictment of "British dominated Greece" by the Ukraine have removed all question.

In the middle of this there came the sound of shots from Yugoslav fighter planes and the explosion of a falling American transport.

Contrast this with Versailles—also a travesty and tragedy—27 years ago.

Contrast With Versailles
At Versailles there were days when Georges Clemenceau, furious with the British attitude toward Germany, refused even to speak to David Lloyd George. But there never was a day during the conference itself when French guns opened fire on the British. Nor was there ever a day when one "Ally" described another as "a menace to peace."

If Versailles bred World War II in 20 years, how long will it take the conference of Paris to start a third?

In this bleak pattern, adding to the sense of foreboding that hangs heavily over Paris today, there has been the voice of Gen. DeGaulle. Frenchmen and foreigners have varying views of DeGaulle as a politician and as a national leader but very few people question his vision, his feeling for the future.

DeGaulle's Views
Long before the second World War he foretold in military terms the kind of war it would be. Just before it started he said France would be overrun. After she was overrun, he declared in the darkest days that Germany could never remain a winner. What is he saying now?

At Bar-le-Duc recently he spoke of an inexorable collision of Russia and the United States. This week he criticized the proposed new French constitution on the ground it gave the President too little power.

Roosevelt Teeth Replacements

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt (left) smiles and shows her two new upper front teeth at New York. The teeth, to quote Mrs. Roosevelt, are "two lovely porcelain ones, which will look much better than the rather protruding large teeth which most of the Roosevelt have." Mrs. Roosevelt smiles at right before she lost her teeth in an automobile accident on August 14.

Mothers Of Triplets Get Together On Their Problems

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP)—Problems confronting mothers of triplets were discussed by 24 such mothers at the first annual convention of the Mothers of Triplets Association.

Typical of the problems aired yesterday was that of punishment. The prevailing custom had been to take the offending triplet off to a place where the other two could not watch. The convention, however, accepted with pleased smiles the system used by Mrs. Lillian Murray of the Bronx, N. Y.—punish all three lightly for the misconduct of one.

But the biggest problem for the mothers and unsolved by the convention, one mother said, was purchasing triplet carriages, inexpensive triplet clothing, especially for teen-agers and playthings. The convention agreed to establish a clearing house for dispensing used items in these categories for needy mothers.

Other observations made by the mother:

It usually takes about 11 months before a mother can determine which triplet is which.

Mothers of triplets find they often feed or bathe one child twice and overlook one during infancy. But regarding bathing some mothers told the convention that they solved the problem by marking each child with different colored beads or by hanging name plates around the neck or wrist.

Harrisburg, Aug. 30 (AP)—Hunters were warned today by the State Department of Revenue that licenses for the year expire at midnight, tomorrow, August 31. License tags for the 1946 season have been sent to all county treasurers and shipment of the 1946 allotments to agents will have been completed by tomorrow at midnight.

33 INJURED IN TROLLEY CRASH

Philadelphia, Aug. 30 (AP)—A streetcar smashed into the rear of a stalled trolley in a darkened tunnel beneath the Philadelphia Museum of Art last night, injuring 33 passengers of the two vehicles.

Screams of the injured and eerie blue flashes from displaced trolley poles in contact with the power line created pandemonium in the underground passageway until police and fire emergency squads led more than 60 uninjured passengers to the street level and began taking the injured to hospitals in ambulances and commandeered autos.

Most of the injured were discharged after treatment and service was restored on the Spring Garden avenue route street route after a brief interruption. Both trolley cars were damaged extensively.

A passenger on the first vehicle, who corroborated the motorman's report that it had stopped after the trolley pole jumped the wire, said the motorman's scream was the first warning of danger to occupants of the stalled car.

"We could see another car coming behind us," said the passenger, whose name was not learned. "Then it crashed into us and all the lights went out again. There was a lot of screaming and a lot of smoke. But in a couple of minutes the lights went on again. We'd all been thrown about the car and one boy was knocked unconscious."

The tunnel carries the trolley route beneath the Art Museum and the broad Benjamin Franklin parkway east of the Spring Garden street bridge across the Schuylkill river. Philip Martin, 31, motorman of the second car, reported to police he had applied the brakes on seeing a warning light at the entrance to the tunnel but his vehicle, on a downgrade, skidded into the stalled car.

Bradford Man To Be Named By Moose

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP)—Leo W. Ryan of Bradford, Pa., today was the only nominee for supreme governor as the Loyal Order of Moose prepared to elect officers at its 58th annual national convention.

Ellis F. Keller, Lebanon, Pa., was one of four unopposed nominees for the board of governors of Moosehaven, the Jacksonville, Fla., home for the aged, and Judge Ralph W. E. Donges, Camden, N. J., was slated for election to the board of governors of Mooseheart, the lodge's orphan home at Mooseheart, Ill.

POLICE OPENING KLAN PROBE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 30 (P)—State police, acting under direct orders from Governor Edward Martin, pushed an investigation today into activities of the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania.

The initial inquiry was focussed on the south-central Chambersburg area because of a newspaper advertisement published there, but was expected to reach into other sections of the state.

The newspaper advertisement was signed "Franklin County Klan" and declared "we are here to stay."

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, said the probe "has already started" but declined to amplify the statement.

Orders Full Investigation Martin directed Wilhelm to make "a full and complete investigation of the Klan's activities in Franklin county and in any other part of Pennsylvania where there appears to be any activity."

The chief executive also wired U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark asking that the Federal Bureau of Investigation include the Keystone state in its general inquiry into Klan activities "to supplement the work of the Pennsylvania state police."

At Washington, the justice department said Martin's request was being studied.

Meantime, Gene Smith, deputy secretary of the commonwealth, said the Franklin county Klan does not hold a corporation charter in Pennsylvania.

Sought Charter He said two attempts were made a score of years ago to register the KKK as a non-profit organization—once in 1923 and again in 1925.

The first registration, he said, was filed for the KKK of Dauphin county as a domestic non-profit corporation on December 12, 1923. However, the required final approval of domestic corporation papers was not sought from the county Common Pleas Courts, Smith said, resulting in disqualification after a six months' waiting period.

Smith declared the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, a Georgia corporation, filed an application in 1925 to do business as a foreign (out-of-state) non-profit corporation. That organization lost its legal status when it made no effort to comply with a 1933 law requiring such corporations to requalify, Smith said.

Man Charged With Kidnaping Daughters

Cincinnati, Aug. 30 (P)—Roy J. Hughes, Philadelphia inquirer, today faced a charge of kidnaping his two daughters by a former marriage.

A warrant signed in municipal court by Mrs. Adelaide Hughes, his divorced wife, accused him of "unlawfully, wilfully, purposely, forcibly and fraudulently kidnaping and detaining" Joyce Ann Hughes, 14, and Patricia Hughes, 11, last Tuesday, the day after the Phils concluded a three-game series with the Cincinnati Reds.

Another warrant made the same charge against Mrs. Jessie Hughes, identified as the present wife of the ex-Cincinnati sandlot baseball player, who formerly played with the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago Cubs. He now resides in Hollywood, Calif.

Hughes' attorney, Alvin Leob, said the children had been traveling with their father under an agreement between Hughes and his ex-wife whereby he was to have custody of the children until opening of school.

Attorney Pink, however, denied the existence of such an agreement.

The word advertisement was used in Shakespeare's time to mean any kind of information.

Governor Speaks At Lansford Fete

Lansford, Pa., Aug. 30 (P)—Centennial and GI-homecoming of this Panther Valley community swung into its third big day today after hearing Governor Edward Martin declare the greatest tribute America can pay to veterans is "a workable plan to outlaw war forever."

"We cannot expect a perfect union of all the many social, government, industrial and religious philosophies," the governor said in a speech yesterday afternoon. "The beginning or reconciliation of the various views will take a long time and endless patience."

TOWN COUNCIL BUYS FIRE HOSE, PUTS KEAGY ON AUTHORITY BD.

The Littlestown borough council, at its regular meeting August 27, voted to buy 1,000 feet of 2½-inch fire hose and 500 feet of 1½-inch hose from the Fabric Fire Hose company of Sandy Hook, Conn., at a price of $1.40 per foot for the former and $1 a foot for the smaller hose. The hose will be used to equip the new fire truck expected to be delivered in the near future, and to replace old fire hose on the present apparatus.

A. G. Johnson, Catonsville, Md., a representative of the Sandy Hook company, appeared before the council and explained his company's product. Decision to order the fire hose now was taken in the belief that prices would be increased later. Funds needed that are not in the budget will be taken from unexpended funds of either the general borough account or the water account.

Ask Traffic Light Permit
Council adopted a resolution directing Borough Secretary Roger J. Keefe to make application to the Pennsylvania State Highway department for a permit to install and operate a traffic control signal at Center Square. The matter was brought to the attention of the council by Chief of Police Leon H. Gage, who said he had been in touch with Hartley C. Gafvert, division traffic engineer. Approval of the state is required before the signal can be installed. It will be at the intersection of routes 140 and 194.

A motion was adopted to pay A. J. Bedford $300 damages for straightening a sidewalk on "M" street, west side, between the first alley south of Charles street and the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. Mr. Bedford to furnish the borough with a quit claim deed for land taken in the straightening. Mr. Bedford is also to remove the existing porch or cut it back so that it shall not exceed four feet from the present building, occupied by the Pennsylvania Paper Box company.

Street Surfacing Project
Councilman Kindig, chairman of the street committee, brought up the matter of resurfacing Prince street from Newark street to the end of the developed section. It was agreed that water mains would first have to be laid before street repairs could be started, and council voted to set up a project for resurfacing this street and the surfacing of alleys adjacent to Charles Ritter and St. Aloysius church dwelling between "M" street and South

To Help Veterans With Pay Forms

Veterans wishing assistance in filling out their claims for settlement for unused leave, may secure help Thursday evenings from 7 to 11 p. m. in the John W. Ocker post, No. 321, American Legion home. Veterans are reminded that a copy of their discharge must accompany the claim, either original, photostatic, or certified copy. Blank forms will be available at the post home.

Queen street, adjacent to Dr. J. R. Riden and William N. Fornwalt running south from East King street to Lumber street and alley adjacent to properties of Charles C. Miller and Henry S. Stover south from East King street to Lumber street, and on "M" street from Charles street to Cemetery street.

The council adopted an ordinance ordaining Locust street from North Queen street to Park avenue. Final action on the ordinance will take place at the next meeting September 24.

Order Water Pipe
Secretary Keefe was authorized to order 3,000 feet of six-inch cast iron water pipe and 400 feet of eight-inch cast iron pipe and necessary hydrants and fittings at an estimated cost of $6,500 for water mains on Boyer street and for the extension of the water mains through "Rolling Acres" from East King street to Crouse Park. Nevaeh A. Crouse appeared before the council to ask for water mains in this new subdivision.

The council directed that a ten-day notice be sent to J. Walter Brendle ordering him to complete repairs to a sidewalk within that time. Unless done, the secretary was authorized to employ a contractor and add the 20 per cent penalty and make the cost a lien on the property.

Named To Authority Board
Samuel M. Keagy was elected a member of the Littlestown Authority board for a term of five years to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. H. Dern. A report on the activities of the board was given by Secretary Keefe.

He said that steps were taken at a recent meeting to obtain funds and make arrangements to complete the unfinished sewer system under plans submitted by E. M. Brown, president of the M. M. Freeman company, Philadelphia, subject to final approval of Albright and Friel, Inc., engineers, Philadelphia, as to revenue; Townsend, Elliott and Munsen, Philadelphia and E. V. Buleit, Gettysburg, as to legal opinion and final approval of borough council as to whether it would be willing to transfer the water works to the authority board for the purpose of making possible the financing of the sewer system project.

Every cloud does have a silver lining which everyone can see if they have good insight as well as good eyesight.
In our case the silver lining is the number of times our phone rings even when we have to say no . . . because when the phone rings all day long we know that folks are thinking of lumber in terms of I. D. CROUSE & SON.
So, keep right on ringing 81-J for your lumber needs. We may be able to say yes to your query. If we can't, we will say so cheerfully and hope that you will take it the same way. Because one of these days things will be different and "no" will go into the discard where it belongs.

News From Littlestown

The Story Of Andrew Schreiber (Shriver) Early Town Settler

They marched into New York by night.

Andrew had been having difficulty completing the marches, but he felt that when it came to fighting he could sit down and wait for the enemy as well as the next man. The younger men had cheered him on most of the way but by now young Andy was suggesting tactfully that his father give up his idea of fighting in the Continental army and go home, leaving the battles to younger men.

Such suggestions made Andrew more angry than he was against the British, so the boys generally ignored the subject, feeling that the patriarch would soon realize that wars are for younger men and not for the old.

To Defend New York

Andrew put it another way: "If the old men can make the wars then they can fight them too." But the marches seemed to become more difficult the further they went. Even Lieutenant Kitzmiller was anxious to spare the brewer and came around suggesting that Andrew ease up on his activities.

But now they were in New York and Congress had decided that New York, the key to the colonies, would be held. Andrew felt he could hold his own among the younger men in an encampment. Besides he liked New York. There was a little tavern in Harlem, near which he was camped, that provided good brew and good talk. And Harlem was a nice village. It reminded him of Philadelphia in a way and his memories of Philadelphia now were pleasant.

Andrew had been doubtful of the success of the Continental armies until he arrived in New York, then he was perfectly sure, along with all his comrades, that the cause of the revolution would be quickly successful.

Confident of Victory

Why there were thousands of men about, armed to the teeth. Never before had he seen such a great number of men. While only a few had uniforms here was a group of armed men who apparently could not be defeated.

Backwoodsman, for the most part, all were handy with a rifle and all were certain of what they could do once the enemy attacked.

Andrew and his sons visited about the encampment and looked at the heavy guns that were available. Surely they would prove invincible.

There had been a little trouble on the other shore shortly before Andy arrived, he was told, and the Americans had been forced to retire. But as he heard the story it was a smart trick on the part of General Washington against the enemy. Now if the Hessians were to attack, well, according to the speakers, it would be just too bad for the Hessians.

Andrew was not to stay for the defense of New York however. He found that his lieutenant had arranged for Andrew, with his bad feet, to retire to the bridge across to New Jersey. There he was to stay as a rearguard defender just in case anything might happen when the expected drive by the British came.

Andrew Is Angry

The Adams countian was angered by that.

"Why should they put us old men here out of harm's way when there is a war to be fought?" he grumbled over his flip. There were many to agree with him.

The guard about the bridge was lax, for the men never expected the enemy to get anywhere near them. Between them and the British was the entire Continental army, or at least what seemed like the entire army.

There was some talk of troops over in Jersey, but surely Andrew thought, they must be just a small number, because he had seen personally, hundreds, no thousands of men in his visit through New York.

The men at the bridge heard sounds of gunfire, apparently down Harlem way.

Andrew turned to his companion: "Ah, we're getting in some fine shots now. Soon it will be over. Why, the British have to come in by ship and when the ships stop and the men get off into their little boats to come ashore we'll knock them off without difficulty."

Disturbing Rumors

The noise of battle continued to drift back toward them, seemingly getting louder and closer as time went on.

There were disturbing rumors. A messenger had come riding back to the commander at the bridge. Andrew and some of the others had stopped him as he started back toward New York.

Holding to the boy's saddle they had asked: "How goes the battle?"

The boy had smirked: "How goes any battle in which these men take part. Half the troops are surrounded by the Hessians who keep yelling 'Yonkee' and cutting off heads and the other half are running for their lives." He laughed and hit his horse.

They watched him racing down across the field with their mouths open in astonishment. Another Pennsylvanian alongside Andrew began to curse the stupid loud who acted as a messenger.

Andrew, however, began to feel a heavy dread in his stomach. Perhaps the victory would not be so easy.

Fear of Defeat

They saw the truth of the messenger's words a short time later. A man came running across the plain towards them. He had no gun, nor hat. He had apparently fallen a number of times for his clothes were muddy and one knee was torn and bleeding. The man had apparently run a great distance.

"The Hessians," the man gasped, "the Hessians, they're everywhere, the revolution is over, the Continental army is completely destroyed, save me!"

"Save you for what," Andrew growled, "no wonder the army is falling back if it is made up of such cowards as yourself."

Soon other men came running through the field. Most were as disheveled as the first. Then the few became many and whole companies of men came running to the protection of the rear guard.

Andrew, surrounded by fleeing men, stood with the rest of the bridge guard with rifles raised, expecting to see the British soon and determined to do a little better than had their comrades who had first met the enemy in New York.

But it was a little difficult to keep down the dread in one's heart and keep a rifle ready for instant fire when frightened, running men kept bumping one on the arms and elbows in their haste to get through to the bridge.

Kill Lice!

THIS EASY WAY

Kill lice and mites without handling a bird. Just apply Pratts Roost Paint to the tops of the roosts and cross arms. Kills both by fumes and contact. Works under any house conditions because lice-killing nicotine fumes are released at a controlled rate even if there is time on the roosts.
